

EASA Decision not to adopt Australian Civil Aviation Safety Authority (CASA) AD/GA8/8

EASA considerations, leading to the decision not to adopt CASA AD/GA8/8

On 24 November 2014, CASA Australia issued AD/GA8/8, applicable to Gippsland Aeronautics GA8-TC 320 aeroplanes, which are validated in Europe. The AD is being reviewed by EASA.

Although EASA has no intention to deviate from the Australian AD and eventual adoption seems the likely outcome of the review, at this time, EASA has insufficient information to decide that the AD can be adopted.

Pending the result of the review of the AD, the Agency have decided, with reference to the provisions of ED Decision 02/2003, not to adopt CASA AD/GA8/8 at this time.
